

Eleventh Sunday in Ordinary Time
June 14, 2015

*The Kingdom of Heaven is like a mustard seed which is the smallest of all seeds.
But once it is sown, it springs up and becomes the largest of plants and puts forth branches
that the birds of the air can dwell in its shade.*

Reflection on the Scriptures

"The lives of all of us are to be revealed before the tribunal of Christ so that each one may receive his recompense, good or bad, according to his life in the body." —2 Corinthians 5:10

We are all awaiting trial. Jesus will judge us based on our faith expressed in action (see Matthew 25:31ff). We will be judged according to our fruitfulness as His stewards (Matthew 25:14 ff). For instance, Jesus expects those who have been given five talents to produce five more (Matthew 25:15). We are responsible to bear spiritual fruit — to lead many people to repentance, salvation, freedom, peace, and life in Christ. We must be fruitful in making disciples of all nations (Matthew 28:19), beginning with our children, grandchildren, co-workers, friends, fellow parishioners, and neighbors. When we die and stand trial, the world should be a much better place for our having lived. Life should be more respected and protected; the poor should have been given justice and mercy; Christ's kingdom of justice, peace, and joy in the Spirit should be more established (Romans 14:17).

Many of us don't see an abundant, spiritual fruitfulness in our lives. This is normal to some degree, for the growth of God's kingdom is invisible at first (Mark 4:27). Even when we can see it, it is at first as small as a mustard seed (Mark 4:31). However, if we are attached to Jesus (John 15:5) and if we die to ourselves (John 12:24), we will bear abundant fruit and be judged accordingly. Love the Lord; bear fruit; go to trial; go to heaven
